

Electronics Recycling

Electronics Recycling

Disposing of electronic waste in landfills or dumpsters has a negative impact on the environment. Electronics are full of toxic elements and improper disposal enables toxic waste to seep into the soil and water supplies. Examples of home electronics, include computers, televisions, monitors, fax machines, small household appliances, cell phones, and printers etc.,

All computer related recycling may be dropped off at any Good Will location for recycling, through Dell ReConnect Program.

For your convenience, you may also take computers and TV's to E WASTE NOT WANT NOT Computer & Electronics Recycling located at 11007 Chicago Drive in Holland.

You can also check the newspaper for E-Collection days offered by other groups or businesses such as City Flats Hotel. You may bring all computer related e-cycling to any Goodwill location. Tell them is is for their Reconnect program.

Please direct any questions about electronics recycling to Mary Ann Hensley @ 616.355.1335 or m.
hensley@cityofholland.com

Source URL (retrieved on 2015-03-06 19:14):

<http://www.cityofholland.com/solidwasteandrecycling/electronics-recycling-0>