Description This home was built about 1893 by Isaac Lamoreaux, a physician. Syloa (?) Lamoreaux acquired the property and deeded it to Frank Hadden in 1903. Hadden owned the house north of this one. (106 W. 11th) Merrick and Sylvia Hanchett lived in the house in the 1920's. Sylvia was Hadden's daughter. After Mr. Hadden's death in 1934, the property was given to the heirs. Mayo (Sylvia's brother) and Marguerite Hadden lived in the house from about 1936 until around 1977. Mayo Hadden was a state auditor, played professional baseball and football and was a veteran of World War I. Mrs. Hadden, the former Marguerite Leenhouts, was the daughter of one of Holland's early physicians and was the granddaughter of Jacob (Jannes) Vande Luyster, founder of Zeeland.

Significance

Date of Construction about 1893

Architect/Builder This two story Queen Anne style home has a combination brick and cement block foundation, and narrow beveled wood siding. The sash 1/1 windows have lintel trim and some have louvered shutters. There is a cutaway window with a decorated vergeboard and a top finial and pendant. There is a front colonial columned porch and an enclosed hexagonal sun porch. A second story balcony has a wood railing. This cross gabled pitched roof has wide eaves which are box corniced. Two gables have decorative shingle patterns.

Description

This 1½ story style home is of frame construction and has a Waverly Stone foundation. The windows are bracketed and there is a leanto style section on the south side. There is a crawl space under the front section, possibly indicating a later addition in the rear. The clapboard home is situated close to the sidewalk on a small lot.

Significance

Date of Construction before 1908 ?
Architect/Builder

The property may have been part of that owned by the Boone family, owners of a livery stable and adjacent property. It was owned by the Van Doesburg family, who were laborers, from 1864 until about 1914. In the early 1920's, Peter A. Ver Schure, a laborer, resided here. A succession of owners followed, including Bessie Van Der West and Louis Elzinga, among others. Mrs. Gertrude Harrington, the wife of a former mayor,

Description The early history of this modest home is unknown. In 1921 John and Jennie Hoffman lived here. From 1924 until around 1935 Martin and Annie Vander Poel resided here. He was an engineer at the Bay View Furniture Company. From 1936 until 1969 the home was owned by Martin Hacklander and later by his widow, Elizabeth. Mr. Hacklander was a barber in the Holland area for more than thirty years. From around 1970 to the present this has been the home of Marlin Sanford, an employee of Brooks Products.
