

H O P E NEIGHBORHOOD

.....
WE WANT YOU TO LIVE HERE
.....

Holland is a college town, and the Hope Neighborhood is the place where the mix of students, professors, families and anybody else who likes their coffee with a cube of intellect is welcome. Hope College is a top liberal arts college. Among other things, it's known for great science and a strong dance program. In this college town neighborhood, there are a lot of reasons to take a short walk to campus or into our famous Downtown.

Go Hoping.

Yes, it's a verb as well as a top college. Hoping can mean a lot of things. It can mean checking out performances throughout the year including the Hope Summer Repertory Theatre performances. It can mean checking out art exhibits in DePree Art Center, getting to know the Flying Dutchman at the VanAndel soccer stadium, the DeVos Fieldhouse or the Ray & Sue Smith Stadium. The best way to go Hoping? Join the rest of us at Hope College's Community Day, an annual celebration of the long-standing relationship between Hollander's and Hoper's.

if your family can hang ten). It has a super playground and is a popular place to tailgate before Hope and Holland High football games.

Two college fun.

Hope isn't the only urban campus in Holland. There's Western Sem (as the locals call it) too. That stands for Western Theological Seminary, a small seminary right in the heart of it all. With about 250 students, the school welcomes students from many denominations.

Just a stroll away.

Our Downtown is truly something special and if you live in this neighborhood, you're close to all the action, events, parades, dining, shopping, you name it, you will love it. You'll also be close to the Window on the Waterfront which is a surprise that Hollanders love to discover. It's a beautiful, nature walk tucked up in a part of Holland that brings nature into town.

Study this.

This quiet neighborhood full of mature trees isn't just for students. Sure, there's plenty of student housing options from apartments to townhouses, but there's also an array of small to large single and two-family homes, making this area popular with just about everyone.

Two park fun.

Feeling college-y? Get out and play Frisbee at Centennial Park (provided there's not an awesome event going on, like Tulipanes or Art in the Park). Or you can visit Smallenburg Park, with its very cool skateboard park. It's also a great place for family reunions (especially

This neighborhood is home to tree-lined streets, sidewalks and plenty of MAX Transit bus stops with buses ready to take you beyond the neighborhood. Want to go even further? No prob there. Amtrak and intercity bus service, Indian Trails, are just a ten minute walk that easily brings you beyond the greater Holland area.
